

SPEAKER'S BIO

BRADLEY K. LANE

COMMISSIONER
FEDERAL MEDIATION AND CONCILIATION SERVICE

Bradley K. Lane is a Commissioner assigned to the Chesapeake field office of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service (FMCS). He assists parties in the private, public and federal sectors in labor contract negotiations, grievance mediation and in resolving workplace disputes. He develops and delivers customized training programs on bargaining models, collaborative problem solving, labor-management partnerships, relationship development, communication, and conflict resolution.

Prior to joining FMCS, Mr. Lane worked in the private land development industry in Georgia. He was involved in a variety of projects in the residential, commercial, and industrial markets where he was responsible for utility construction, survey and machine control, and general project management. He served the United States Air Force as both an Analyst and Labor & Employee Relations Advisor at Robins Air Force Base. He went on to work as a Labor & Employee Relations Officer with the Defense Logistics Agency where he was responsible for operations in the Southeast United States. Mr. Lane was a regional representative with the Georgia Economic Development Academy, board member for the Graduate Program Review Board at Georgia College & State University, and volunteered with various non-profit organizations.

Brad holds a Certificate of Computer Aided Design from Middle Georgia Technical College, a bachelor's degree in Business & Information Technology from Middle Georgia State University, and a master's degree in Public Administration from Georgia College & State University. He is a civilian graduate of the Air Force Squadron Officer School.
